Legitimacy of ASEAN's Treaty of Amity and Cooperation

Saptopo B Ilkodar

Department of International Relations

UPN "Veteran" Yogyakarta

Background

- ASEAN leaders place TAC as fundamental principle in internal and external relations
- ASEAN leaders always ask their dialogue partners to access the treaty
- TAC is universal principle:
  - mutual respect
  - no external interference, subversion or coercion
  - non-interference in the internal affairs
  - settlement of disputes by peaceful means;
  - renunciation of the threat or use of force; and effective cooperation

Research Question

- Why not all ASEAN dialogue partners access the Treaty of Amity and Cooperation as suggested by ASEAN?

Previous studies

- Ruukun Katanyuu (2006):
  - implementation problem of TAC (especially principle of non interference) to Myanmar when she faced problems of democratization, reconciliation, and human right; at the same time she would be the next ASEAN leader
- Jurgen Haacke (2005):
  - 'Enhanced Interaction' with Myanmar and the Project of a Security Community: Is ASEAN Refining or Breaking with Its Diplomatic and Security Culture?'

Previous studies...cont'd

- Shaun Narine (1997):
  - possibility to apply ASEAN way in ARF
- Hiro Katsumata (2003):
  - Reconstruction of Diplomatic Norms in Southeast Asia: The Case for Strict Adherence to the “ASEAN Way”

This study

- Trying to discuss TAC as a whole, as an international regime
- Trying to examine it from the perspective of legitimacy

Studies on International Regime:

- Regime formation
- Regime legislation
- Regime Compliance
- Regime Effectiveness
  - Legitimacy is part of regime formation

Previous studies on ASEAN Regime:

- Miles Kahler (2000):
  - “Legalization as Strategy: The Asia Pacific Case”
    - Asia Pacific organizations tend to refuse legalization, contrary to European
    - No sanction in TAC so it is weak regime
- Shaun Narine (1998):
  - “Institutional Theory and Southeast Asia: The Case of ASEAN”:
    - Using constructivism she conclude that ASEAN grow since its member states feel that joining ASEAN they get political leverage

Previous studies on ASEAN

Regime:

- Michael LR Smith (2007):
  - To criticize constructivism for can not explain the abnormalities of ASEAN situation: from very success nations to economic crises in 1998

The way to grow norms (Jaye Ellis; 2002):

- liberal democracies:
  - cooperative relations among certain states leads to strong identification and a sense of mutual trust among those states
- Cosmopolitanism:
  - to build a consensus that leaves room for difference and diversity while being sufficiently substantial to provide the basis for the validity of norms
- Constructivism:
  - Inter-subjective understandings that are constructed by agents in the course of interaction, and from which practices, rules, and institutions are constituted

TAC problems of legitimacy

1. No trust to the regime:
  - No sanction
2. Superiority feeling (Canada and the UE)
